Associative Remote viewing first try

November 2 2018

8:29 PM

I found an online tool <https://zvarik.cz/en/arv-remote-viewing-online-tool-randomizer> where I can type in a question and then I type in the different possible answers, two or more, and I can remote view it as associative remote viewing. I do not know what kind of pictures could show up from the target pool.

My first trial should use a question whose answer I know.

Question: Shape of a ball.

Option 1. Round.

Option 2. Square.

I see a strong blue square shaped object. It has a determined character, strong and feels like lead or metal in its strength. It is very blue, the color blue is its main identifier. It sits on the ground, it feels very determined and self-secure as an element.

Haha. The thing had not worked yet, NOW it created a target number and I can go ahead.

Target 3764/7891

There is movement and this thing is leaning to the left. It is happy here. Some object is being carried by hands by a person toward the left. Soft lines. There is nothing hard here. Nothing is angry here, it is happy here. It is handled by a man's hand. I am trying not to say spaghetti, it was the first impression I had at the very start. Something delightful that can cheer a person up. It goes toward the nose like spaghetti being eaten. A person sitting on a chair in front of it. There is the table in front of the person and the object on the table.

8:39 PM I am feeling too stressed out to do this for longer. I now see the photos.

First picture is a snowy mountain landscape which corresponds to round.

Second picture is picture of an owl and corresponds to square.

This session is a fail.

8:42 PM End.
