

Group Matching Target tasked by Daz Smith - GM3DS2

Remote viewed by Anita Ikonen - Method EEC

Target 6572-2222

Today April 24, 2018

Start 10:10 PM

Third Stage 2, target two: 6572-2222.

April 24, 2018, 10:10 PM.

Someone is very upset and confused here, these is a tremendous emotion of uproar and unsettlement. It feels like the emotion is in a woman. It is tremendously hectic and chaotic. It shakes and rumbles and is ready to erupt. The thing - either object or a woman - that is hectic and upset is shaking and ready to burst and erupt and have a minor explosion. There is something that is ready to explode! It is shaking and ready to explode! It is red in color and warm.

It will spew out its contents on the ground, it is something disgusting like toxic waste that nobody wants to look at or see, people feel disappointed at this material, nobody really wants to deal with this material or to handle it or clean it up, it is like from an exploded barrel afterwards.

It was something tremendously disgusting, people do not like it. It makes people feel disgust, like a green toxic waste that came out of a barrel-sized barrel. It is repulsive. This thing was not liked, and nobody wanted to deal with it. It makes people want to get away from the toxic waste that was spewed out, nobody wants to stay there to deal with it. But it wasn't an accident. It was all contained in a small barrel.

It used to be a pretty and fine landscape with trees and nature and a stream of water, but now this barrel it burst so it is no more. Something was confined in a small space, but it craked and spewed out. And nobody wanted to go there to that material after that. It was a stinky fluid, and nobody wanted to touch it or to handle it. It was a woman's fault.

It is really hot glowing red here, in this place. This whole area glows red in a large area. It fumes like a stingy smoke upward from that red area. But we were in a barrel which was smaller than that large area. The area is large, but the barrel was small. Something shook and oscillated, oscillated vibration movement in it. It was held in the hands of a woman. But then it was laid down on the ground, and from there on, it spewed out.

Nobody goes here, this is not a place where anybody goes. It is not a place for looking around. It has a canal, in which pours a yellow thick stinging fluid, this fluid stings and is acidic if you touch it. But it is all red and hot all around, and fume rises from the red upward. A rounded (meaning like around like on a barrel) barrel. But nobody goes here to this place.

A liquid flows here, but it is not a regular liquid. Something sank into the liquid and then there were bubbles as the object sank into this thick liquid.

Nobody lies down into this tar. Nothing is here floating on this tar. It glows bright from just under the surface of the tar under the surface of the tar. It is a thick fluid that makes bubbles that pop on the surface. There are no chairs here to sit on.

A path leads to here, but you have to know the path yourself because it is not a marked road or path but you can learn which way to walk to get to here, and you would walk across a thick stone ground of brown colour. It is very hot here, it radiates heat. It is a slow moving liquid with some circular stirred motion like it being stirred slowly it is very heavy and thick, in a circular motion. Something sank into it.

You would drown there if you went into this fluid. It glows incredibly bright and orange from the inside! Some object sunk into this thick fluid. There is something cooling and blue that goes vertically into it, like a pillar or an opening. An eruption of an obnoxious fluid. It is not a place where you can be. This gunk would weigh you down. It tastes like hot ashes if you taste it.

It is very bright. It smells bad there like acetone or vinegar (acetic acid).

10:34 PM End.

April 25, 2018

4:15 PM Start. Oh, something glowing and hot and ready to burst and explode, it is filled with bottled up energy and wants to burst! It is going to burst, and it will. And once it had, it spewed out some very noxious fluid or gunk that nobody wanted to touch or to deal with, everybody would have just rather stayed away from it. It is a bother and a nuisance, people do not like this thing, a whole group of people just wanted to get far away from this thing and to escape it after it had burst, they fled from the scene pretty quickly so that nobody would have to put their hands on that green thing that spewed out of it.

So we are looking at two scenes: the before, and the after. The before is large and red glowing hot and ready to burst, the after scene has no more red glow but has that barrel and the green gunk that has spread out over the ground and nobody wants to deal with it.

- 6 it feels hectic, like chaotic and ready to do something drastic and unplanned, a chaotic, it shakes and vibrates, like shaking its head with small movements side to side
- 5 it was once usually calm and a red smooth surface of gunk that made bubbles and was hot and noxious and somewhat acidic, a strange chemical fluid and large red
- 7 the green gunk that is toxic waste that came out afterwards, it has black surroundings and is connected to silver-colored or gray-colored metal
- 2 something happy when it burst, because when it burst, yellow light shone bright, but not a very big light but not too small either, but not a huge yellow light, not a strong light either but rather dim or weak but visible
- 2 there is a wooden plank that is floating on a big red glowing gunk
- 2 something sank into the red gunk
- 2 a pole that stands up in the red gunk and extends upward

2 the hot and steamy and acidic bitterness of the red gunk

I said that something sank into the red gunk, yesterday too, and today also.

It is an active material, it does not have energy or thermodynamic equilibrium and it needs to have a reaction take place in it so that it can release that energy. It contains a great force and is not at rest and is not at balance.

Something sinks down into the red gunk.

Identify the material that the red gunk is made out of: It shines bright and is not a dark red but a bright medium red. It could be inside the blood stream, with blood plasma. Something went into it.

Focus, identify the red gunk: It is chaotic, and hectic, it shakes and oscillates.

Focus, identify the material of the red gunk, do the taste test: It tastes salty, like metal salts. It is thick in the mouth if eaten, but it is very hot if you eat it. It shines brightly, it is brightly lit and illuminated and it is a fluid that is thick like a gunk.

Take a dip into the red gunk to see what you see and how it feels to be in it: First of all, it is very hot, and noxious, but something like a black red metal box or crate sank down into it, that is what I see happening.

Go to the black box and dive down to see it down there: It cannot be retrieved, it is perfectly stuck down there and cannot be pulled up. The black box is sharp metal, it is a dark gray square crate that has perfectly sharp corners and edges.

Go to the black box and inspect it: I can't because that green gunk is getting ready to explode and to cover the ground up above. I am down under the surface in the big red gunk, and up above the green gunk is about to spread itself on the ground and I feel that I have to get out of here before that happens, everybody wants to avoid the green gunk.

Don't get too caught up in the emotions that were taking place at the target, do not make the emotions at the target your own emotions, those are not your emotions and if other people leave it does not mean that you also have to leave. Focus on the black box for a while: It is lodged down in there, it has perfectly sharp edges, the green thing shimmers in there, like active particles or blobs that are getting ready to get out and make their presence shown.

What is the black material made of, and what is the identity of the black box: The black box defends something inside it, that is why it is sharp like made out of blades and sharp corners, it protects its contents.

What is the contents of the black box, look inside it: The gunk is getting ready to explode! I have to get out of here!

Focus, those are not your emotions. What is inside of the black box: No! I am being really serious! I have got to get out of here before the green gunk explodes and gets out, I have to run now!

Ok so go to the green gunk and inspect this material: It has sharp pointy black spikes pointing out of it. In fact, there is a correlation between the sharp edges of the black box that contained the green gunk, and blobs of the green gunk actually themselves having sharp black pointy spikes, I am just not seeing it exactly but these two are representing the same description.

Go to the green gunk, pretend that it is your friend and that you understand it. Tell me about the green gunk with the black spikes: It defends itself, with the black spikes, it was placed there to defend it from being grabbed by anyone. So, nobody wants to grab it, but it is also not meant to be grabbed. Not only did people run away from it by choice, but it also had those spikes to prevent anyone who would have wanted to from grabbing at it.

Do a taste test on the green gunk: Do I have to? Because this thing it is explosive!

Do the taste test on the green gunk. What does it taste like: It is sticky and adhesive on my tongue, like an adhesive slime. The color of it does not make sense, it is a dark green but I have never seen anything of this color before.

People had to get out of here, the whole place was evacuated. The place is a large landscape where red gunk covers the grounds.

Something sank into it. A man was holding on to the edge but he couldn't hold on any longer and he slipped and fell down into the red landscape but at this time it was not in a fluid red gunk but the walls around were a light red color, like falling into a ravine.

A ticking time bomb. Set to detonate. The green paste is very adhesive, sticky, it sticks to things. And something black and spiky covers it, surrounds it. But people left this place, it was evacuated pretty quickly.

Go to this location and observe it from up from an elevation: There are wooden plank walkways there, like when cowboys walk there, I don't know why I say that but that is the impression and visual that I had.

Look again from up above: The red fluid on the ground which is very thin this time, is brightly illuminated.

Go to the red illuminated fluid on the ground: It is very hot to the touch, and people sink into it. But people don't want to.

What happens to people who sink into it, and what makes them sink into it: It is too hot to sink into, the heat is unpleasant. They can float on it.

How are the red fluid and the green fluid related: The green fluid was retrieved from inside of the red fluid, the green fluid had previously sunken into it, and the green fluid is thicker and heavier than the red fluid.

Look at the red fluid from a place and distance and angle from which it makes most sense as to what it is: It has small bubbles in it, it bubbles inside. The bubbles rise up. There is a glow of yellow light nearby.

This green thing with spikes is menacing and people want to stay away from it.

I don't want to sink into the red, but I come to my senses and realize that that is my task. It is a ravine or a gorge with red colored walls, the walls feel fleshy so it could be inside of a body, inside of a throat or inside blood vessels.

The green gunk feels like a nitrogen compound. It was protected by spikes. It is not very large. People went away from here. This green gunk encased by the black solid sharp object sinks down into the red.

The ticking time bomb.

I can sit on a ledge and dangle my legs there. It feels very hot from that red gorge. I see bubbles down in the red gorge. It could be inside of someone's body. The black sharp box fell into there. It is very sharp and went into the red. The black sharp box sunk into the red. Nobody wanted to see this.

4:58 PM pause.

5:17 PM Resume.

Something bubbles a red, and a more dense green sunk into it. It sinks into a fluid, the place with the red walls contains water. It really looks like we are on the inside of a human body.

This thing with spikes on it. It was meant to not be grabbed, that is why it has spikes. It was placed in there, it sunk into the fluid, and then therefore it sank. But people stay away from it, it is dangerous. It contains an explosive green item. People were alarmed by it, to see it, and people started to run away from it. Nobody wanted to stay near it, that green thing with black spikes pointing out from it. Nobody could have handled it. It sunk into the river.

The target deals with this black sharp thing that sunk into the red fluid. It has very sharp black edges on it which keep anybody from touching the green that is inside. It was moved away from people, placed into this river flow, and it got stuck and lodged there. It is sharp, it is not meant to be touched. Many black sharp pointy spikes point out from it in many directions around it.

Nobody wants to go here.

5:31 PM End.

6572-2222