

Group Matching Target tasked by Lyn Buchanan - GM7LB3

Remote viewed by Anita Ikonen - Method EEC

Target Dec 20 , 2006

Today July 22, 2018

Start 8:06 PM

Target Dec 20 , 2006

061220/_____

Today July 22 2018

Blue and green, water and wavy plants, this is nature. Thick water, some bubbles in it. Could be a picture of planet Earth from space.

Dense thick water, it's surprisingly dense.

Green and blue are mixed together in the same space, and not water with green on the shore for instance.

This target is nature.

What bothers and surprises me is that the water is so thick, it is thicker than water ever should be.

And the water is not cold to be in.

There seems to be no emotional profile from any humans related to this target.

This water is too thick, something is wrong (with it).

Black colored element which makes itself very rigid, is a metal bar (no!) or a human who stands rigid in a vertical posture.

This is something pleasant which makes people smile. It is something that makes people happy.

It's like they found gold. Gold panning?

Rigid plank.

Something is brushed from the water and picked up from the water.

Something shakes a bit.

Probing element water: The water waves very calmly slowly. You can put your hand into the water and pick up a gold nugget! Water tasted like salt water. I can grab with my claw some of the blue element and it comes off. Also it flows around my finger. All consistent with it being water.

I saw a smiling old man who is missing teeth. He wears a white wide fabric hat, the material is similar to jeans.

Investigate green element: (probe = investigate)
It is like slime, like algae. It is slimy and it moves around my hand.

Pinch test (first time ever): I tried to pinch it but a big green moving blob snuck up behind my hand and laid itself over that hand.

Smash test (first time ever!): the green blob continues waving above my hand, it is as if my hand went right through it and my hand hit a bottom.

Taste test: Easy to swallow because it is nice and slimy.

Put some on my hand: it just slides down on two sides of the palm of my hand and drops down like a slime.

Put some into a glass: it moves wavy upward along the glass walls

Investigate rigid element: it's a person standing.

Something is picked up from the water like a gold. Someone is very happy to be there. He is happy about what he holds in his hands. He picks it up from the water.

Sitting test, I sit at the target landscape:

I end up lying down in water on the bottom of the water and with that green slime waving above me.

It is not deep to the bottom, perhaps less than one meter deep.

He is so happy! He says, "Haha! Look what I picked up with my hands!", he has the white hat.

Investigate the element he picks up: Oh he puts it in his pocket real quickly. Then let's look in his pocket of course. He has a wrist watch which he has taken off and put in his pocket.

Investigate the person: Let me put a hand on his shoulder. He is shaking something, as if he is gold panning. Hand on shoulder again: This man is missing a lot of teeth also on the front. He holds up something he found, "Haha! Look what I found!".

Moving water.

Investigate rigid black thing: poke test: oh, it is a person. Hand on it: he steps aside.

Why is he completely black as an element? It could be a small crane with a rope that has a hook on it.

It stands upright. It is not a moving vehicle. Even though the water is waving, this rigid standing thing will stand still. It's not very big, but you wouldn't call it small. When I poke it, it is like a man who steps aside.

Visual: many oval shaped stones of white color, as if they were in the water or taken out of the water but still covered surrounded by water.

There are lots of things at the target site. But none of these things are impressive. The things are basically more like junk than any expensive things with a wow factor, it's just stuff.

The old man shakes the pan this time up repeatedly so that the white oval smooth rocks jump up and down on it.

Happiness and great joy at this target. "Haha!" Jumping up and down shaking up, the object which he moves up and down in his hands like the gold panning dish.

Investigate element pan: he didn't want me to take it. There is gold here. And water. It jumps up and down. Pinch test: -

The old man is missing teeth.

White canvas over him. He lifts this thing in his hands up and up over and over again. And he says Haha! And he is looking at these white pebbles and stones on the ground. All these rocks are smooth and none are sharp.

I go to stand in the water barefoot: something shakes me pushes pushes toward me real hard. Turns out it was the black figure man who was pushing me to go away from this site! I am going to go back and push him: feels bad, is dark and sinister.

Look at target site from above: there is a man's throat, meaning there is a man. Caucasian skin color not really white but also not tan. Looked a bit old. Something interesting is happening here because of the moving water or in relation to it. White pebbles or stones that are smooth. These stones are being thrown up repeatedly. There are shoes and boots there. There is great excitement.

"Haha! I found another one!" and he holds it up in his fingers!

"Haha! They seem to be raining down now, like gold!"

He is wearing glasses, I saw and felt the glass of the glasses against his eyes.

He is wearing white clothes. The dark man is there and he saw me.

"Haha! Looks like I found another one!", old man says and throws that pan up and up repeatedly.

The black thing is a person. He is uncomfortable. This time it looked like people are picking sea shells.

The black thing is narrow and tall.

The target as a whole has a big round shape yet remember it has a fluid wavy aspect.

The man is picking up pebbles and rocks from the water. Yes, he is wearing glasses.

A board or a plank is being shaken back and forth along the horizontal plane.

I think the target is gold panning!

ELEMENTS

Thick dense blue water.

Green plants within the water, plants a bit wavy. Slimy and moving and almost seems intelligent in its unexpected behavior of movement.

Rigid black element, does not have perfect straight contours. Rigid plank.

People picking up gold, they are happy and smile, gold panning.

Something that is brushed up from the water and picked up from the water. Gold nugget.

The old man with the white fabric brim hat, he is missing some teeth, has curly gray hairs.

Element such as gold panning pan, old man is moving it up and down or sometimes shaking it along a horizontal plane.