We are up at some elevation up above the floor, the floor cannot be found at least not with more effort, the floor does not want to show itself. Red bricks are all around, also white bricks were seen in another area. Arches are seen. There is a large vat or tub-like object or well, a human is right there against it. The human has white skin color and short brown hair and seems to have a red jacket but I have not confirmed the color of its clothes. The human has got green eyes. The human is calm and was seen shouting toward other people in order to communicate them over a distance or for other reason but there is nothing negative happening or negative emotions that were sensed. Up above are several arches and these go inward and there are red bricks around. Yellow flag or large fabric was seen once. Large diagonal dark wooden square posts go upward and inward above the white bricks and go to where the roof is. It is beautiful architecture and reminds me of being inside an old church.

Target will now be seen, then I create a decoy and see it, and no self-matching will be made.

The man I drew has, as drawn, one hand reached forward, and this is seen on at least three of the human figures on the target image.

Target is decoration from a church, decoy is a black and white portrait of a man. The man I drew was seen from the side and I remember the ear being clearly visible, that I recognize from the decoy image. I also did not mention in the summary before feedback, the round dark hole or shape on the bricks well, this matches well with the shape of the decoration on the target image.

3:03 PM End session.
