Strange artificial space, the main element is a long light-gray road, over which is a yellow tunnel but the tunnel appears only one half (left or right half) as well as to narrow down to closing down on the road at the far end of the yellow tunnel. There is a pale gray structure with a light colored railing, it was also seen (but not drawn) as a white hump or hill with such a railing on top and this white hump was on the far right end of the road. The target signal will not show me a floor or a ceiling, this is like empty white space.
I now see the target, then create and see decoy1 and decoy2 in that order, and no self-matching is made.
Comment on target: Aha, I now see why I perceived an artificial space. The target image is an illustration.
Comment on decoy1: Decoy1 is an audio file so it will not be used.
Comment on decoy2: It seems that I was remote viewing the target image which produced the artificial space, since this decoy2 is a real photograph.
Comment on decoy3: Although, decoy3 has both the light-gray road and the white railing along the road, so some merging is now suspected.
7:37 AM End session.
