A somewhat abstract artificial target landscape experience, the surroundings outside of central target site vanish into white which is distinct and symptomatic of such target signals and target landscapes.

We are in nature outdoors. The sky is open up above us. The target site is flat against the ground, there is flat water which is calm and seems shallow. The yellow in the foreground was a liquid slowly flowing, perhaps the early indication of a water flow. There are some rocks as raised edges on either side of the water area. Trees were seen. The ladder indicated that we, people, could go downward in that direction.

Target: Page of text. This is not a suitable RV target image!

Decoy1: Inside a church.

Decoy2: Small archaeological artefacts.

2:53 PM End session.
