Strange artificial landscape, abstract. Main element is the orange-red ring which is situated high up in the upper right, there is empty air below it. Yellow and green like flower petals, some kind of painted hill or mountain in the lower left with pencil lines across it, a protruberation sticks out from the orange-red ring, this protruberation is pale gray or yellow. I suspect the target to be a painting, possibly of a flower, with mountains and nature landscape, or a bird with feathers like a rooster.

Feedback: Wow, I have literally drawn one of the seashells, down to the right colors and with the orange border and the blue lines across it. The ring at the top must be the crown on the head. The protruberation out from my ring could be the top arm of the sea star.
