One search word, I am blind to the word during the session.

There is a rigid solid red spiral in the vertical. It is attached to the floor.

Probe: Solid and rigid, not bouncy. I put my hands on one of the protruding red curves on the right side and find it to be part of a blue bowl which extends toward the left from this edge.

4:23 PM End RV.

I give this session a grade C for having the basic element forms of something round and the bowl starting to be something flatter but still not flat. The signal and elements were hard to probe to find or feel, I did not sense the floor or background or surroundings but it was a white background image so that might be why. No let's give this one a B because I also got the solid rigid composition correct, and there isn't a whole lot else in this picture to say. Grade is B.
