Interesting and odd. I get several little colored pieces that are being dropped into a container, the pieces are sweet like candy. There is something awkward and odd about them being dropped. Most of the candies are red in color. The shape of the candies is roundish but not square and not oblong.

I see something was being scratched with a rake or claws, scraped from up to down rather slowly. There are many small separated pieces, in the candies and in the rake claws, many smaller things that are same to each other and have empty spaces in between them, so there is that kind of repeated pattern.

There are several thin blue stripes or paths that go vertically up to down with space in between them. Something was scratched and scraped with a paw with claws.

There is a lot of empty space at this target, a lot of empty air on the target site. It is rather dark there. The things of interest are not on the ground, they are at a bit of elevation but not high up in the air. Several little red pieces of candy. Feels vicious. It is dark here, it feels evil here. Vicious.

Choose an element and probe it: I choose the red pieces. They feel warm. They are floating in thin air. There is a brown wooden cupboard in the background. You can hardly see it because it is in the dark background but near. Go to cupboard: It fell down when I touched it. Stay at it, pursue it: I see the glowing red pieces in the air behind my back. Look at red pieces from cupboard: The red pieces are being scratched by a paw with claws.

Do a proper job: It is dark here, all black. I sit there. There is movement above me. Several vertical short pieces with empty gaps in between them. THEY ARE FINGERS! The vertical pieces continue into a hand and are fingers that connect to a beige hand! Someone is evil here, there are evil vicious eyes. The outer ends of fingers have got claws on them. Red pieces, they go down into a vessel into a container. They are being dropped down.

Blue suede near the floor. The blue suede element leans upward a little bit on its right side and the left side of it lies flat against the floor. Probe it: It goes upward a bit, or it wants to go up but it does not reach so high up. There is someone vicious behind my back, it has evil eyes and is ready to scratch someone with its claws. Go to the one with claws and investigate: It has evil eyes. I find the cupboard again.

Probe cupboard: The cupboard dangles and it falls over when I touch against it, I wasn't even pushing. Someone is really very evil here and has evil eyes and has their two clawed hands clutched and ready to strike.

10:58 PM End RV. Haha, it was the parrot. The clawed fingers are surely there. But evil eyes? Who knows what emotions it is feeling and expressing. I give this session an A+ if I can, but I don't give A+ only up to A. The blue leaning suede is so clearly one of the feathers. This session went well. The little red pieces in the air look like the large unfocused pixels in the background. The wooden cupboard could be the wooden branch it is sitting on who knows? But wow the clasping clawed fingers on the branch is precisely what I had. Wonderful session went well. It is however not dark on the target picture, perhaps a bit dark on the underside in the background but could not really be called dark.

This time I knew that I had a target image source page that has many images displayed on it, I made sure to never see any other images in the internet search and to also not look at the image web source but to only copy its web address because I want to see no other pictures in case of displacement.
