Target WR24

Today April 23, 2019

Start 4:11 PM

There is a human on the ground with its back propped up and looking down into a round basin or pool of water that is on the ground, there is a splashy liquid in the pool, the human has one hand dipped into the water. We can climb on a ladder, the human does. The ladder is in the vertical. Orange colored bricks or rocks. A small town scene made of orange bricks walls and red roofs.

4:19 PM Secondary stage

The human sits on folded legs. Something smooth in the round pool of liquid, feels smooth.

I see a new element it is a round orange cart wheel drawn by horse. The wheel seemed to be the same element as the round water basin, so we could have a dislocation there.

The wheel element is being pulled on toward the right, there is a force vector on it toward the right so the wheel could not be lifted toward the back, toward the left if we wanted to. The human looks into the wheel or round basin. The human has a yellow straw hat on the head. The wheel that is looked at is orange. A liquid is splashing around the orange bricks on the ground.

The human's hand is going into the water or into the basin. The human then lifts its hand up from the basin and toward its forehead or hat. The human has brown hair but the hairs feel thick and coarse like a horse's mane or tail hairs. The ends of the hairs is a thick end like on a rectangular broom, all the hairs end with a sharp line like a block, normal human hair does not do that is not that thick or cut that straight at the ends.

I touch the orange brick and there is a strange nozzle here, the nozzle of a horse or a donkey or the nozzle of like a scarecrow puppet, in brown orange color.

There is a yellow straw basket.

The orange bricks are porous, they are filled with holes and gaps, this is by no means a smooth flat surface. Rural area, small town, nothing such as glass or modern steel or metal surfaces, it is all uneven surfaces and natural materials uneven and dirty and natural.

Investigate the main element the large orange ring: The mouth of the animal (horse) is near to it. I probe the horse and it stands up on two legs and becomes a human. Straw hat. Orange color. A wheel, on a cart, being pulled.

I could probe more but I am lazy. We can anyway assess if I was at the target, by looking at the initial and early secondary elements and impressions.

4:45 PM End RV.

I give this a grade A, we indeed have a human dipping a hand into the water, and judging from the people it is not completely unthinkable that we might be in a rural kind of town with the elements I described. The splashing water is indeed a main element! I love how the water was always splashing when I looked at it, right from the first time I saw the water as an initial element it was splashing around! Well done grade is A.

Possibly the item that they are dipping into the water has got a round perimeter on it, which could have been the source of my round perimeter for the water basin or round wheel element.

4:52 PM End session.
